IT WAS ONE OF THE LARGEST

Meetings Ever Held in the Upper Part of the City-Mr. Burdette Makes a Great Speech-Pays Tributes to Atkinson and Dovener-The Gallant Captain Makes a Brief Speech - Mozart Park Meeting Today-Benwood Republicans Organize.

One of the largest and most successful meetings ever held in the First ward was that of last night, which was addressed by Hon. Sam Burdette, of Charleston, at the corner of Seventh and Market streets. Over a thousand peo-ple stood and listened to the arguments on the lasties of the campaign, so clearly and eloquently put by that gentleman, and every point was taken up quickly and applauded to the echo.

It was one of those kind of crowds that never seemed to get enough, and after the speaker of the evening had finished they called for every prominent Republican on the platform for a speech, and they were not content until they got it. This year's Republican meetings are fe-markable for that feature of holding on and the audiences generally drink in every word and cry for more.

The stand was decorated tastefully with bunting and flags and portraits of McKinley and Hobart were conspicu-

At 8 o'clock the Tariff Champions and the First ward Republican clubs, headed by their drum corps marched to the McLure house, where they received the speakers and escorted them to the place of speaking. Capt. B. B. Dovener, who was in the city, rode in the carriage with Mr. Burdette, as did Dr. C. F. Ulrich, and Capt. William Otto, There were about 300 men in line and the two clubs made a very creditable showing.

Arriving at the stand the meeting was called to order by Capt. Otto, who named Dr. C. F. Ulrich as chairman. On assuming the chair, Dr. Ulrich made a brief but forcible argument in favor of a sound tariff and a sound dollar, which was applauded enthusiastically. He concluded by introducing Hon Sam Burdette, the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Burdette's Addees. ed by their drum corps marched to the

Mr. Burdette's Addeess.

As the gentleman arose he was greet ed with cheers. He began by saying that he was glad to be at the home of his old friend Capt. Dovener, who had is of triend capt. Doveler, we had so so faithfully represented the district in the last Congress and would represent it again in the coming Congress. This remark drew forth a cheer that could be heard at the McLure house.

He proceeded by saying that the Re-publican party stands to-day for the same principles it has always advoca-ted, a sound tariff and a dollar worth 100 ted, a sound tariff and a dollar worth 100 cents. He pointed out the condition of the country under the Harrison administration and compared it to the condition of affairs at the present time. He eloquently described the busy scenes about the workshops and mines then and drew a picture of the scene around the factories to-day.

He told of the benefits a Republican tariff had brought to the people and how a Democratic tariff measure had robbed them of them. The people are not fools, they are not blind, they do not forget the Democratic promises made four years ago and they do not forget how they falled to make good those promises. The Democratic party knew they they falled to make good those promises. The Democratic party knew they could not go before the people again on the tariff issue with any hope of success and now they are going to try to squeeze in under a mask. He spoke of the old leaders all leaving the party and compared them to the present leaders. Altgeld, Tillman, et al. He told how the party had turned their back on President Cleveland, who four years ago was their Moses, and how the office holders who had been given employment by the President, spit on their benefactor, and now clasp hands with General Weaver, who four years ago they had tor, and now clasp hands with General Weaver, who four years ago they had rotten egged in Georgia and Mississippi. They have joined with the Populist

They have joined with the Populist party and nominated a man who will not carry his own state, his city or the ward in which he lives.

The speaker referred humorously to the fact that Bryan stood on two platforms, the Populist and the Democratic, and called attention to the fact that one of them was in favor of governmental control of the railroads. He pointed out the immense increase in taxes that would be necessary should such a measure become a law.

A Disorganized Party.

He quoted from the editorials recently printed in the Democratic press condemning Bryan and his policy, called attention to the protest entered by the former leaders and the brains of the pur-ty at Indianapolis.

Mr. Burdettethen spoke of the new doctrine of free silver having been taken up by the Democrate this year. They had always before stood with the Republicans on the money question and only four years ago their platform favored free silver only by international agreement. Their present platform is a queerly constructed affair and is made up largely of issue and fads. They denounce their own President, they denounce the national banking system and still they put Arthur Sewall, who is the president of a national bank, on their ticket. They denounce Grover Cleveland for sending troops to Chicago when Governor. Altgeld had shirked his duty and was allowing property to be destroyed and riot to prevail. They charge the Republicans with the crime of 1873 just as they accused them of a crime when they passed a bill authorizing the resumption of specie payments. They said at that time such an action would bring disaster to the country, but it did not, and by the passage of that bill the paper dollar was worth as much as a gold dollar, and the people are going to gee that it will always remain so.

There was not a single silver dollar in circulation when the alleged "crime" of circulation of circulation when the alleged "crime" of circulation of circulation when the alleged "crime" of circulation of circulation of circulation of circulation of circulati trine of free silver having been taken up that it will always remain so.

There was not a single silver dollar in circulation when the alleged "crime" was committed and still they say the demonstization of silver took half the circulating money from the people. If there was free and unlimited coinage of silver in this country, the gold would leave the country and the worst panic imaginable would ensue.

He challenged easue.

He challenged any person to point out a country in the world that had ever successfully stamped an inferior metal for twice its bullion value without a reliable backing. He said that no matter how powerful the United States government is, it can not stamp a mule a large and make it so. He spoke of the silver barons backing the silver movement with their millions and told of the twenty-two silver mine owners who were worth $547,000,000 and laughingly referred to them moaning and crying about the poor condition of the working-man.

Cause of the Hard Times. It is not for lack of money that the country is suffering to-day, said the speaker, it's the lack of confidence. The manufacturer will not risk his money manufacturer will not risk his money where it will bring him no return, and the rich man will not invest his money in an enterprise at his time when free trade and free silver are threatened. What we want is more confidence and less war on sound money.

The speaker closed with an appeal to the voters to cast their votes for the whole ticket. He spoke of Captain Dovener in the highest terms and also of Hon. G. W. Atkinson, who he said was born in Kanawha county and his old home would give him at least 2,500 majority. Mr. Burdette sai down amid the enthusiastic applause of the additional control of the addition Cuptain Dovener Speaks.

At the conclusion of Mr. Burdett's speech, cries for Captain Dovener came from every man in the crowd and even the ladies of whom there were quite a large number present, joined in the large number present, joined in the call. Dr. Ulrich introduced the congressman, who said he had come to the meeting to enjoy the eloquence of his friend Sam Burdette and had not intended to make a speech, but he could not decline so generous a call from the audience. He said he had just returned from a trip through the interior of the state and he brought with him giai tidings of great joy, for everywhere he had visited the people were up and ready for the light and on election day they will go to the polls and cast their votes for homest money and protection to American industries. He spoke of the change that had come over his Democratic brethren since last campaign. Then they all went down the street singing "Graver, Grover, we're in clover," but they don't sing that song any more, and he would offer a reward for any four Democrats who would sing the same song this campaign.

He said that Bryan had been nomi-

a reward for any four Democrats who would sing the same song this campaign.

He said that Bryan had been nominated on account of his mouth, and he will be defeated for the same reason. The captain said it would be impossible for him to speak further on the issues of the campaign, as he was to speak at Mozart park to-day and he wanted to save himself for that meeting. He said he would at some future time address a meeting in the First ward, when he would enter into a discussion of the issues. He was applauded and cheered during his speech in such a way which showed the hold he has on the hearts of the citizens of Washington district.

The audience still didn't have enough and although it was after 10 o'clock, they called for Messrs.Thomas.O'Brien, ir., H. C. Richards, C. H. Henning and J. K. Hall, all of whom responded briefly. Then with three cheers for McKinley, Hobart and the Republican ticke, the meeting adjourned.

POLITICAL MATTERS.

The Mozart Park Meeting this Afternoon and Evening - Benwood Republicans Organize-Other Political Items.

If the weather continues as fair as it was yesterday, the Mozart park will have one of the largest, if not the very largest crowd in its history this afternoon and this evening. It will be Re-publican day at the hill-top resort and the believers in protection and sound money will turn out en masse to hear the well known orators who are to address the two meetings to be held.

As has been printed, the meetings will be held under the auspices of the B. B. Dovener Club, of the Eighth ward, and they have arranged all the details for a general good time for all. The club met at their headquarters last night and among other business transacted, named the following vice presidents for the two meetings, and seats will be arranged for them on the large platform. Last evening at the Drovers' Home, in Upper Benwood, the Republicans held a dargely attended meeting and formed the McKinley Tariff and Sound Money Club, with 146 members. The following members were elected: President—Charles H. Seabright. Vice president—William Nolte. Secretary—J. T. Roseberry, Treasurer—John Luble. Mr. D. W. Martin, of Wheeling, made a stirring spaceh, with sound money.

astring speech, with sound money and the tariff as his text. The club decided to turn out to-day in the parade that will precede the B. B. Downer's meeting at Mozart park. A drum corps has also been formed, and the Republicans of the community are thoroughly aroused.

Interest in the Thurston meeting on the La Belle pottery grounds next Thursday is increasing and it bids fair to be one of the greatest meetings of the campaign. Dr. H. B. Baguley has been appointed chief marshal of the parade that will precede the meeting. There will be a meeting at Republican leadquarters on Monday evening of the chief marshall and captains and presidents of Republican clubs, when aids to the marshall will be named and other arrangements for the demonstration perfected. Last night in McMechen, a poorly attended meeting was addressed by Colonel W. W. Arnett, of this city, Democratic candidate for Congress in this district. More than half of the sixty people who attended were Republicans. There was an entire absence of enthusiasms. When three cheers for enthusiasin. When three cheers for Bryan was proposed, there was a pain-ence. His remarks were interrupted at ful lack of enthusiasm. Mr. Robert intervals with liberal outbursts of applause.

AMUSEMENTS.

Wheeling is to witness "The Last Days of Pompeli." The magnitude and enormous expense of operating this big open air exhibition has heretofore pre vented its production in any but the large cities of the country, and it was secured for four nights, commencing September 7, only bythe enterprise of a number of leading citizens, who put up a guarantee of several thousand dollars. On a mammoth stage in front of the scenic city, 350 gorgeously costumed performers participate in the glittering spectacle. There will be five exciting Roman hippodrome races by sixteen beautiful thoroughbred horses and darling male and female drivers; a large ballet of fifty pretty girls; a big specialty company of noted sensational performers, an array of skilled athletes in all feats and postures of the Roman hippodrome; intricate evolutions of the Roman inpodrome; intricate evolutions of the Roman guards and Pompelian maidens, and enchanting musle by a big millitary band of twenty-five musicians. In front of this great stage and flowing between the audience and the performers is a large lake of real water, which is covered with gaily illuminated gondulas.

During these reveirles the volcano begins to show signs of bursting forth, and the festivities are finally brought to an abrupt termination by the flood of real fire and lava from the treacherous Vesuvius, preceded by flashes of lightning and startling cartinquake shocks. The doomed city is soon buried in the fiery debris, and its hundreds of people eeem to have perished with it, so mysteriously have they disappeared. Grand as have been all the scenes leading up to this startling climax, the most beautiful feature of the gorgeous scene is yet to vented its production in any but the large cities of the country, and it was partments Exceed Expectations, and Knock Out all Previous Records-The Rorses will Begin to Arrive in Large Numbers To-night-The Quality of the Exhibits is Fine.

Yesterday was a busy day at the state fair grounds. Both in the morning and afternoon the grounds were a scene of activity. Incoming exhibits in all departments were numerous, and the vanguard of these indicated wie thing conclusively-that in quality as well as quantity of exhibits the fair of '96 will eclipse all previous exhibitions given under the auspices of the West Virginia State Fair Association.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the state fair board of directors met on the grounds and took a thorough round of inspection of grounds and exhibits. Mesers, Mondel and Schwertfeger were appointed a committee to arrange for the Tuesday afternoon half holiday, which will be "City Day" at the fair. They will ask Mayor Caldwell to issue a proclamation, recommending the suspension of business throughout the city on Tuesday afternoon, so that the people will have the opportunity to see the best state fair in the history of the association.

see the best state fair in the history of the association.

Alvini, the balloon man, has arrived and will give his first ascension on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. This will be the only special attraction on Monday, the races not starting until Tuesday afternoon.

The horses began to arrive numerously last night and to-day there will be over 100 bang-tails at the grounds. A special train from Steubenville with race horses will arrive this morning and another race horse train will arrive to-day from Columbus.

In all the departments the entries are coming in rapidly. Last year there were three hogs exhibited at the state fair. This year there are fifty-three. Although the ratio of increase is not so great in other departments, the increase is large, a statement that will be appreciated by the public when the exhibits are seen next Monday. The challes horse entries, though not numerous, are of a far higher grade than ever before seen at this fair. In fact, in all departments, there is quality as well as quantity. The exhibit of farm machinery is not particularly fine, as many makers have combined and agreed not to exhibit here.

Up to noon yesterday the cattle arrivals numbered over 200 and still "a comin". The fruit exhibit is so heavy that a tent had to be pitched to accommodate the exhibits.

The work of fitting up the main building is progressing rapidly. Miss Reymann and her committee have received many entries in the art and children's departments.

The work of hustling "Bob" Anderson in getting so many and such fine entries in the harness races is worthy of praise, and is no doubt appreciated by the fair directors.
